Anaheim, CA – May 25, 2010 – Through ongoing and aggressive initiatives designed to increase floor covering awareness, the World Floor Covering Association (WFCA) continues to reach target consumers in record numbers.

One facet of its multi-pronged consumer program includes annual media tours of New York City and Des Moines — homes to key national “shelter” publications and magazines targeted to women. For the 2010 tours, WFCA trend scouts selected innovative new flooring products to share with magazine editors. In total, the WFCA contacted over twenty Surfaces tradeshow exhibitors from around the world to participate in the tours. Making the list were products and manufacturers ranging from self-cleaning porcelain tiles to a hardwood company that presents wood planks cut sideways across the grain.

So far, the reception from the media sources in New York City has been exceedingly positive, with nearly all reporting that they plan on using the information provided in feature articles in upcoming issues. Already, stories in Good Housekeeping, Parents, Country Living and Distinctive Kitchen Solutions have been secured.

“There is no doubt our program is resonating with consumer media,” said D. Christopher Davis, President & CEO, WFCA. “The press tell us each time we meet with them in New York how much they appreciate our efforts to keep them abreast of the industry. It is through these face-to-face meetings that we are able to offer dozens and dozens of consumer press opportunities to our manufacturer and distributor members which translates into increased awareness and sales.” Davis along with Cammie Weitzel, WFCA general manager and Leah Gross-Harmon, principal of Story Dept., LLC — the WFCA’s public relations agency of record, conducted the media tours.
