6. Retail sales rose $0.7 \%$ in September compared to August. Certainly, a sign of consumer confidence, but also due to inflation.
7. Existing home sales were better by 7\% in September compared to August. However, they were down compared to last year 2.3\%. See Exhibit I.
8. New home sales in September were better than August by $14 \%$. However, compared to last year they were down 17.6\%. See Exhibit II.
9. Home prices were up $19.7 \%$ in August. A record high.
10. The median existing-home price for all housing types in September, was $$ 352,800$ up 13.3\% from September 2020, which was $$ 311,500$.
11. In late October filings for unemployment benefits were at the lowest level since the coronavirus began.
12. The S&P has notched 56 record closings so far in 2021.
13. FDA has authorized Pfizer-BioNtech Covid-19 vaccine for children as young as 5 years old.
14. The graduate degree that pays off: the M.B.A. A Wall Street Journal analysis of federal student loan data found $98 \%$ of M.B.A. programs leave students with manageable debt loads.

Neutral Observations:

1. On October 15,1929 stocks dropped 11\%. On October 27,1929 stocks dropped one-third and it signaled the onset of the Great Depression.
2. The U.S. has 2.1 million troops. Hundreds of thousands remain unvaccinated.
3. Facebook is shutting down its facial recognition system.
4. The FDA panel voted to recommend Moderna Covid-19 booster shots. Robin and I both had the Moderna booster shot, after having the Pfizer original vaccinations.
5. Tesla crossed the $$ 1$ trillion in market value in October.
6. Amazon is the largest corporate owner of U.S. industrial space, with 78 buildings spanning 83.6 million square feet.

Negative Observations:

1. Inflation remained high in September reported at $5.4 \%$.
2. The U.S. economy (GDP) grew by only $2 \%$ in the $3^{\text {rd }}$ quarter.
3. The CPI rose $0.4 \%$ in September compared to August. This will most likely trigger an increase in social security benefits.
4. The PPI increased $0.5 \%$ in September. For the 12 -month period ending in September the PPI increased $8.6 \%$
5. The U.S. trade deficit hit a record high in September.
6. The U.S. workforce is still down 4.3 million people. The highest total ever recorded.
7. There are 1.38 million homeless school children in the U.S. About one in 12 live in New York City.
8. Serious financial difficulties have affected nearly $40 \%$ of U.S. households in recent months. About 20\% have depleted all of their savings.

14. The great shortage of car parts world-wide is putting the world's economy in a tailspin.
15. Shortage of truck drivers is adding to delivery delays. It is estimated that the country needs 80,000 additional drivers to keep goods moving.

SUMMARY

The shortage in the U.S. workforce potentially has long-term effects. Factories are keeping busy, but their supply-chain problems keep getting worse. Participation in the workforce has fallen broadly across demographic groups and career fields. The workforce has dropped fast among women, workers without college degrees and those in low paying service industries. Hotels, restaurants, and child-care, plus the immigration challenges contribute to the inflation trend that the country is experiencing.

PREDICTION/OPINION

Business is a bit rocky but still positive compared to last year. I continue to estimate that the flooring industry will end up about $15 \%$ better than last year and most likely will be better in total dollars than 2019 also by $15 \%$. Covid 19 was a real threat to the economy and continues to be a modest drag against consistent growth. It continues to astonish me that so many people doubt the effectiveness of the vaccine and masks considering the amount of deaths that the world has experienced world-wide. And that $97 \%$ of the deaths have occurred to non-vaccinated people.
