The Employee Retention Credit ("ERC") under the CARES Act, is a relief measure for businesses which encourages them to keep employees on their payroll. It is a refundable credit that offsets employment taxes. You can receive a maximum of $26k per employee.

Employee Retention Credit

How do you know if you qualify?

- Experienced a significant decline in gross receipts
- Your business had to close (partially or fully) due to COVID-19.
- Weren't eligible in 2020? You may be now! This credit can be claimed retroactively.

Eligibility depends upon the size of the employer. You cannot double dip by taking into account wages paid with PPP funds, WOTC, employer sick and leave credits, research tax credit wages (for 2021).
Interaction with PPP Loans

- The same wages used for forgiveness cannot be used for ERC.

- This double dipping is prevented because an eligible employer is deemed to make an election not to consider qualified wages reported on the employer’s PPP Loan Forgiveness Application for purposes of claiming the ERC.

- If forgiveness application has not been submitted yet, it makes sense to keep the payroll portion of forgiveness to the minimum (60%) and maximize the other items.

- If forgiveness has been received, wages used for forgiveness cannot be used in the ERC and the forgiveness application cannot be changed.
Qualifying Wages

Includes wages paid from 3/13/20 through 12/31/20 for the 2020 credit and 1/1/21 and 9/30/21 for the 2021 credit:

- Salary & Wages
- Tips (if included in W-2)
- Bonuses
- Health Insurance Cost
Changes in Legislation

Notice 2021-49 clarified that attribution rules must be applied to assess whether the owner or their spouse’s wages can be included for the ERC. Under these guidelines, if the owner has any living relative then the owner himself/herself and any related individuals who work for the company are ineligible for the credit.

Essentially, the assessment is dependent on whether the owners of the company have related individuals working for them. For 2021 businesses can elect to qualify gross receipts from the immediately-preceding calendar quarter.
